25X1X7

[REDACTED] met with [REDACTED] on 8 December 1959 in order to bring him up to date on current Soviet activities and plans. The number of Soviets wintering over was corrected, the number of Bloc scientists was given and the unlikelihood of Chinese participation was reported. Other information was given concerning the launching of a Soviet aeromagnetic survey, a highly detailed geophysical survey, and an expansion in Soviet geological surveying. It was noted that the precise geophysical survey, which includes gravimetry and geodesy will be of value to the Soviet development of a world geodetic datum and aside from its scientific value will contribute data that will be useful to the improvement of guided missile targeting.
